Since leaving East Liverpool for New York City 10 years ago, Miss Hamill has made numerous appearances in Italian opera. She has sung with Bancci of the Philadelphia Opera company and with the Ruccini Opera company, appearing under the name, Margherita Amilla, Italinization of her real name. She also is popular as a concert singer and teacher of voice.

"Sealands" adds another composi-tion to Miss Hamili's previously published songs. Her work shows unusual versatility, including successful num bers in semi popular, classical and children's songs. Most of her compositions, however, are classical. Lopez Features Her Numbers.

Unmasked Robber Enters Standard Oil Place.

Commodore Rector, 28, attendant at the gasoline filling station operated by the Standard Oil company at the corner of First street and Virginia avenue, Chester, was held up and rob bed of $100 by an unmasked bandit at 7 o'clock this morning shortly after he opened the place for business.

According to a report made to po-lice, the bandit, flashing a revolver, surprised Rector as the latter was opening the safe. As Rector took a sack of money form the strongbox, the bandit ordered him to "stick 'em up."
The robber grabbed the sack of money, backed Rector into a rear room and then fled.

The bandit, it is believed, was picked up by confederates who had an automobile parked nearby. He made his escape into the West Virginia hills. Chief of Police Ralph Allison, of Chester asked nearby towns to be on the lookout for the robber.

The bandit is described as about 25 years old, 5 foot 10 inches in height and wore a dark suit and light,

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 18.—Explanation of the "break" which Thursday afternoon cut out all radio reception of the Republican national convention east of Cincinnati, came when three boys, all 14 years old, where placed under arrest charged with the cutting of 42 miles of wire on the American Telephone and Telegraph trunk line at Mutton Hollow, near here. One of the boys admitted the trio had cut the lines, and sold the wire for junk, according to police.

Radio service from the convention east of Chincinnati was disrupted for an hour, according to A. T. and T. officials, who stated two toll lines and main St. Louis trunk were the circuits affected.

Study of the platform ratified by the Republican convention shows that it contains a varied assortment of planks, but that each barmonizes with traditional Republcan ideals-that the mortising discloses the master cure in the knowledge that he need not apologize for the principles espoused by the party.

There is no beating about the bush in the Republican platform. In unequivocal language it bespeaks law observance and law enforcement, honesty in government, economy in campaign expenditures and a continuance of the high standard of public economy set by President

From beginning to end, the Republican platform is one of the soundest ever placed before the electorate by any political party. There is nothing of a carping nature in the platform, but it is predicated on the thought so far as to shorten his given name of Melville to Mel that the welfare of the entire people is inseparably linked with a cortinuance of Republican control of the gov-

Honor For Newton D. Baker

It is a very great honor—that of appointment as one of the American members of The Hague tribunal-which has come to Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland. That the · distinction comes at the hand of one not of his party makes it the more pronounced and should cause him, as it doubtless does, to appreciate it the more highly. Such is the way it will be accepted by the legal profession, carrying as it does recognition of Mr. Baker's outstanding ability as a lawyer, the recognition not only of a president and his advisers, but of a president who is himself a lawyer. Possibly no better slant can be given upon the tribute to the appointee's legal ability than to point out that it places him with such legal gian's as Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and John Bassett More.

That Mrs. Baker appreciates the honor conferred upon him is evident from his expression when informed of his appointment. "It's a very great distinction," he sait, "and I appreciate the president's confidence in me.

Nobile's Haven

Franz Josef land, where an expedition expects to find Nobile and his companions of the dirigible Italia, was the center of interest in a balloon disaster 3' years ago. The radio has informed civilization that Nobile and his crew are adrift in the Arctic, and the nearest calculations indicate that the Italia very like is somewhere in the vicinity of Franz Josef land.

After the Swedish explorer, Andree, disappeared in his balloon in 1897, north of Spitzhergen, close to the place at which Nobile's dirigible was recently lost, explorers were hopeful that he had drifted eastward to Fanz Josef land.

Walter Wellman, assisted by the National Geographic Society of the United States, led an expedition to Franz Joseph land the following year and thought it likely he would find Andree at Cape Flora, on one of southernmost of the islands which was known by Andree to be a headquarters and a frequent point of call for explorers. Andree was not at Cape Flora, however, and no trace of him or his balloon was ever found. Although Franz Josef land is desolate and ice-mantled and has never been inhabited, it is possible for men to exist there, even through the winter, as the history of Arctic exploration proves.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18 .- Now that aviators re spanning oceans pretty much as a matter of course and taking half a dozen nations in their stride, a renew ed interest has arisen in the idea of a universal lan guage. The idea long has had its devotees and organications constantly are forwarding the cause. Esperanto, Volapuk, and a dozen others have been proposed and the very fact that there are so many different and competing universal languages would seem to argue that the real reason why none has actually become universal is hat the public of the world doesn't want to drop the nfinite variety which has been built up.

Don't Make a Toy Out of Baby Babies Have Nerves By RUTH BRITTAIN

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the overstimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, rel-atives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily yond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably cause irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleepless-ness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more nue, Chester, will receive 1 embers of the Jamestown club.

consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nervous and soothes him to sleep; yet the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea. constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 25 million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity. With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package Miss Cornelia Aiderson will discuss so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.

5. APPEARANCE—Retains its beauty indefinitely—the armored tub is dent-proof outside and stainproof inside.

ing standards:

More time for other things!

Your time is too valuable to spend hour after hour washing clothes the tedious, old-fashioned way. And your clothes and linens are too valuable to entrust to any washing machine except the very finest and safest!

Why not get a Haag Vortex now? It will do an average family washing in one short hourit will give you many extra hours for recreation or for other duties. And it will wash all your clothes—from the sheerest to the heaviest—week after week without tearing a single thread. This is due to the patented Haag safety agitator-just one of the exclusive features which make the Haag Vortex supreme among washers.

The Haag Vortex you buy now will stand up under heavy duty for many, many years with minimum care and attention. For 17 years Haag quality has been unexcelled. The Haag Vortex is widely hailed as "the finest washer money can buy" -yet it costs no more than many inferior makes.

Ask the nearest Haag dealer to demonstrate one in your home without obligation.

Start Work on Yellow Creek Span This Week

Present Structure to be Razed Upon Completion of Temporary Tracks for Street Car "Detour."

Actual work on the city's $55,000 bridge over Little Yellow creek will start the latter part of the week, if plans of the traction company and Contractor John Hill, in charge of the construction, are carried out according to

The vast amount of preliminary work, involving the construction of the street car line over another section of Little Yellow Creek, has delayed the beginning of work on the new bridge itself.

Street car company employes, however, have completed the erection of a timber trestle across the creek a short distance above the present bridge but have yet to connect the ends of the temporary track across the trestle to the main line.

Crews are expected to start work in a day or so on the laying of temporary switches off the westbound main line track, at either end of the bridge All street car traffic then will be routed over the trestle.

When the switches are laid, Con-tractor Hill's forces will be able to start the razing of the old bridge.

Vehicular traffic will be routed around the "ash pile" to the Lisbon road and then across the old county

France Holds Record For Radio Pictures, Paris Paper Insists

PARIS.-France now holds the speed record for taking radio photographs, according to the "Quotidien,"

This paper reports that a French radiologist took two photographs at an interval of 3-4 seconds, or 2 14 seconds better than an American, Lester Leonard.

Science benefits by racing with the X-ray in that the pictures can be projected as stereoptican views whose reproduction of the anatomy in full relief permit a surgeon to operate without probing, said the paper. The shorter the interval between two exposures, the clearer the streoptican

Silk, Music Tax In England Raise Teddy Bear Prices

LONDON .- A harmless little toy reddy Bear, with a silk bow around his neck and a squeak in his insides, has provided the sedate Parliament of England with a knotty problem.

Because he squeaks when his 'tum my' is squeezed, the Customs persist in taxing him as a musical instru-ment. Because of his dainty neckwear, the silk tax is also squeezed out is nobody seems to know—or care. The title fight is not a burning issue, and the "logical contender" angle is even more obscure.

Both taxes are now at the rate o 22 1-3 per cent. Some members of Parliament have declared themselves the Teddy Bear's champion, and have vowed to protest against a silk tax as well as a musical instrument tariff, being levelled against him.

The general public seems to be only mildly concerned over Risko's "white hope" venture. The idea seems to be: "Well, what of it?", if Risko wins and LEAGUE HITTERS | the same if Godfrey triumphs." Neither is going to get a title shot this sea-

Narrative of Love and Struggle Against Temptations

diance for a long time after that. That was the day he, too, glimpsed her, a demure little figure going down the drive. He hesitated only a moment, rather puzzled by the delight that swept him, before he set out on pursuit.

But the moment was that much too long; she had dis appeared when he reached the street,

CHAPTER 34.

The job at Higheliffe ended officially with Frances

The sharp eyes saw everything; the long, stained fingers ran over the hangings, the furniture, the walls. Emily watched anxiously but Frances only mumbled "Humph!" many times and kept turning her square, solid self about.

Mrs Rossiter, however, had more to say.

"She did as well as you could, Mrs. Haiden. And what a dec'led little thing she is! That stretch of space over there—I didn't in the least want it but she persuaded me. I see her point now, of course. You'll be having a rival one of these days."

Frances grunted "Perhaps."

"She's angry with me," Emily concluded. "Though that isn't like her. A sad thing to lose such a friend to lose Frances. If I might tell her how well I meant!" But when they were driving back to the shop the keen face looked so forbidd .. that she could only wait miserably.

Once inside, Frances opened her desk briskly and began to do a great lot of figuring. Finally she nodded at Emily who sat by mutely, hands pressed together, "How :.. :h have you in the bank, girl?"

It wasn't much; three hundred and forty-eight dollars and nine y-six conts. "Buy a car with the ninety-six cents. You want to go into business?" "Do I!"

"For a thousand dollars down you can have a third interest in this shebang. Live on your salary and turn back your share of profits to pry the remainder."

"But—go in with you? If I could! You see it's taken all this time to save three hundred. Years and years for rest. Be an old lady in a wheel-chair then." "Humph! Forgetting your commission on his last Job, aren't you?"

"Commission? You don't mean-"

"I mean I figure ten per cent of any job above cost of labor and material as the price of what's in my head. Judgment, taste, experience. It was what's in your head this time." "But--"

"You-ve carned it, Emily. Don't doubt that. I never have seen a better piece of work."

"Truly? You mean it, dear Frances? And I thought you were offended!" Her eyes were brimming now; she put out a small hand,

Frances laughed and took the har . "Don't be sensitive, dear. It's e, im turned upside down. How about it; do I get a new partner or not? Growing too old to manage this racket alone, seems to me."
"As if you could! I never can thank you—oh, you're giving me what I wanted most of everything in the

But Frances shook her gray head. "Not most, dear

Life is made up of substitutes largely. Still ihtigs are possible to a high heart."

Very cryptic that might have sounded but it never occurred to Emily to doubt that Frances knew what was in every closed and secret corner of her thought. A man whom she often met ir the salon at Great View once told her that Mrs. Haiden had an "X-ray school she fell in love with Kent Rossiter. A little girl from up The Hill, daughter of Steve Day, factory hand A small nobody weaving dreams about the son of the town banker, and patrician.

A school-day thing of no more cons quence, one wou'd say, than a child hanging up a stocking on Christmas Eve or hunting fairy rings under the evergreens on summer morning.

But it had influenced her whole life and Frances understood. And now she said all things were possible to the high heart. A warm glow of affection for the homely, middle-aged woman swept Emily. She threw her arms around the square shoulders and cried a little before she went tearing up the hill to tell Agnes the news.

"Muz, what do you think? Seven hundred dollars is more than your father and I had to start house keeping. I hope Marty'll not take it an.iss." "But you don't understand, dear. I'll have my own business now!" "And what business does a woman want more than her husband's home? You better have saved the money, Emmy. It would have given the lad a fair start." "Oh, you'd spoil it for me, !Iuz! You'd do that! And it means so much to us."

The tired old hand went up, ropes standing out along the back. Emily choked back a protest and 1 1 her cheek against the mouse-colored head.

"Marty won't need any help from me, dear. He in manage better than mant." "You'll not give him up, Emmy? It's only I want you safe, baby." Kitten, who was watching, grinned in a singularly impish way.

Frances went to Benn Hahn who handled most of Lyall's law business and had papers all drawn up to be signed. Very important Emily felt, very much the successful young business woman as she dipped her pen and wrote her signature half a dozen times across the

Mr. Hahn smiled broadly and congratulated her; then she followed Frances back to the shop.

Already a workman was changing the name on the window. Below the "Frances Haiden" he was marking in neat, gold lettering, "Emily Day." She watched for a moment in a vivid breathlessness; then a rich exuber ance came beating at her throat. She felt as she had on the morning when the sun struck a blinding ray from the summit of North Mountain.

Achievement! She had done this, climbed a bit. Not the heights yet but a way up. She would go on, reach the top. Aristocracy of achievement—what did she care for the Tin Badge of Caste? For blue blood?

No sich heady thrill in knowing an ancestor had done a great thing as there was in your own fine accomplish-She thought of Kent and hoped he'd see her name on the window some day. Marty already knew; he waved at her from across the street. Kingdon Coles she didn't remember at all. She was so wrapped up in pride that she paid no attention to a car which almost brushed her as it spun by When it turned the corner she caught a glimpse of red hai and a flutter of green.

"Looked like Kitten," the thought, absently.

But the gold lettering flashed in the sun and she forgot the car.

RUTH MAINTAINS HIS RECORD PACE

NEW YORK, June 18 .- Although e is in the throes of a batting slump he hit for little better than .200 on the Yankees' western trip-Babe Ruth is five games and three homers ahead to 2, with the aid of Ruth's 25th hom- His slugging team-mate, Lou Gehrie, is just about keeping pace with his home run swatting during 1927. Ruth got his twenty-fifth homer of the current campaign against the Browns yesterday and Gehrig contributed No.

Will Get Culture

lames Eads How, millionaire wanderer and grand old man of the road, says that the elite of hobodom will really be cultured. A college for hoboes is to be opened at Washington, D. C., which will make them better citizens and teach them to respect the rights of others. (International Newsreel)
